Foreword

In 2014 Moldova has made significant efforts on intensifying the process of European integration, recording the first major successes.

Thus, on June 27, 2014, the Association Agreement with the European Union was signed in Brussels. In that context, the former President of the European Commission, Jose Manuel Barroso stated: "This is a historic day for Moldova, Ukraine and Georgia, for EU countries and entire Europe. The signing of the Association Agreement should not be seen as an end of the path, but as a new beginning in the European path". It should be noted that as of April 28, 2014, Moldovan citizens, holders of biometric passports, gained the right to travel without visas to 26 Schengen countries.

Although our country has made tangible economic performance in 2014, citizens of our country, especially those who see their future in the European Union, proudly point out changes for better things that have occurred in the country: European roads, modern schools and kindergartens, the possibility to travel without visas and export civilized; achievements obtained after the signing of the Association Agreement with the EU.

These results are related directly to an unprecedented openness, political and financial support given to Moldova by the European Union and the USA.

The changes that have taken place in society stimulated citizens' involvement in modernizing our country.

In that context, the huge flow of information in the economic and socio-political fields, a lot of events held, generation of different views, avalanche of opinions promoted, had stimulated and directed the activity of IDIS experts for developing profile analysis, investigations and launching various studies, guides and works in various areas, such as European integration, geopolitics, market economy, public administration, energy, social sphere, etc.

In order to effectively achieve the proposed goals, IDIS "Viitorul" collaborates with a number of donor organization: UNDP, CIPE, WJR, Hans Seidel Foundation, Council of Europe, NED, Friedrich Ebert Foundation, the German Marshall Fund, PASOS, Soros Foundation, Konrad Adenauer, AGORA etc.

Taking into account the results of the IDIS "Viitorul" team, we can say that the researches of our experts come to support the European integration process and in this way, to contribute to the implementation of reforms in our country.

Through projects implemented and the publications produced, IDIS "Viitorul" promotes ideas related to westernisation of the country, visions and paradigms on the Europeanization of society, debates sensitive issues for citizens and thus, contributes to the promotion of European course, reforming state institutions and democratization of Moldova.
